MICHIGAN GOP LEADERS CALL FOR HARMONY

APRIL CANDIDATES TO BE NOMINATED TODAY

BY G. MILTON KELLY
Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP)—The most harmonious Republican state convention in many years was in the making here today as GOP leaders gathered for a night of political maneuvering which will lead to the nomination tomorrow of a slate of candidates for the April 2 election.

Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, is opposed for renomination by W. H. "Mark" Hanna, standards engineer of the state purchasing division at Lansing. Ziegler has the support of Governor Kelly and administration forces.

Old Bosses Missing
At least a four-way race for nomination for two seats on the board of regents of the University of Michigan was shaping up, and there the contests end.

Neither Frank D. McKay of Grand Rapids nor Edward N. Barnard of Detroit, his ally, storm centers of Republican conventions for many years, made an active appearance among the convention visitors, and their foes said neither could command enough strength at this meeting to cause trouble. Barnard was not here, but McKay had a hotel room headquarters.

In the regency race were Dr. Charles S. Kennedy, head of the Grace hospital staff in Detroit; Otto C. Eckert, superintendent of the board of water and light commissioners in Lansing; George C. Thomson, president of the Michigan Trust company of Grand Rapids, and William B. Cudlip, Detroit attorney.

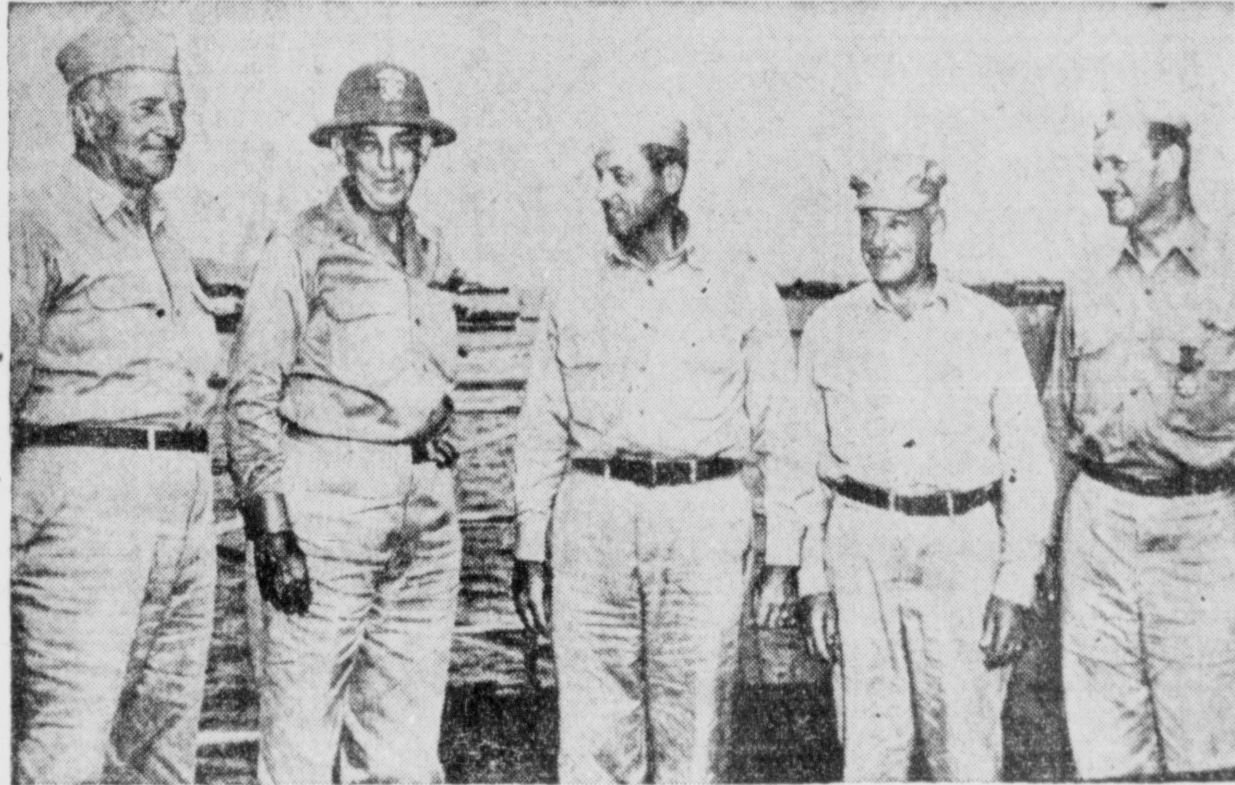

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, had no opponent for renomination for a sixth term. Also unopposed are Melville B. McPherson, of Lowell, and Forest H. Akers of Detroit, seeking renomination for their seats on the state board of agriculture which governs Michigan State college.

New Chairman Picked
Reports that the Wayne delegation was casting about for an opponent for renomination of Mary F. Farnsworth, of Detroit, for a seat on the state board of education were current, but there was strong opposition to stirring up a row on this issue.

Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke of Harrisville announced he was willing to let his name go before the convention for nomination for one of two seats on the supreme court, but would be happy to step aside and let somebody else run for the seat now occupied by Chief Justice Raymond W. Starr, a Democrat. The delegates were prepared to renominate Republican Justice Walter H. North.

The convention tomorrow also will elect a new Republican state central committee and a new chairman and vice chairman to succeed Attorney General John R. Delmers and Mrs. Fern Hammond, who do not seek re-election.

There was no apparent opposition to John A. Wagner, Battle

Owosso Girls Testify On Necking With Nazis

Bay City, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP)—Two Owosso girls testified during their federal court trial today that they had pre-arranged "necking parties" with German prisoners of war and that "wholesale drinking" was commonplace in the camp, a dining plant in which they and the prisoners worked.

The girls, Shirley Jean Druce, 19, and Kitty Marie Case, 21, charged with aiding in the escape last July 20 of two Nazi war prisoners, from an Owosso camp, said that the "necking parties" were arranged through notes exchanged between the girls and the prisoners.

They testified that two or three times they and another Owosso girl went to the prison camp at night where they met the prisoners.

Shirley said that civilian employees and soldiers serving as guards for the prisoners participated in the drinking.

"I was tight the day I was discharged from the plant," Kitty said.

Both girls denied they knew they were helping the two war prisoners, Gottfried Hobel and Eric Claasen, both 20, to escape.

A government attorney asked Shirley how her "boy friend in the navy" felt about her affairs with German prisoners of war?

"When the boys are in camp, what about the girls back home?" she asked. "What are they supposed to do?"

Shirley also said that "the Germans were a lot better gentlemen than the boys around Owosso."

After the girls testified they had no trouble purchasing beer or wine "at any beer garden," Trial Judge Frank A. Picard informed Ray E. Gellatly of Shiawassee county that he should make an investigation and report his findings to the Michigan liquor control commission. One of the girls, Shirley, is a minor.

HELP BLOCKED FOR BUDAPEST

Reds Hold Four-Fifths Of Burning Capital, Repulse Relief

London, Friday, Jan. 12. (AP)—Russian Stalingrad veterans overran the entire Angyalold district in northeastern Budapest yesterday, driving to within 20 blocks of the Hungarian parliament building in the center of the city and winning control of approximately four-fifths of the burning capital, Moscow announced last night.

Simultaneously, in fierce fighting on the snow-covered hills west and northwest of Budapest, other Soviet units for the fourth straight day repulsed large German infantry and tank forces attempting to break through to the rescue of the weakened and desperate axis garrison, the Soviet communiqué said.

A midnight supplement, telling of the struggle west of the capital, said the Russians killed 900 Germans in two repulses during the day and knocked out 19 tanks and seven armored troop carriers.

In ten days' fighting to relieve the capital the Germans have sacrificed almost 16,000 men killed, and approximately 650 tanks on the basis of Moscow's accounts.

Forty miles northwest of Budapest Soviet troops were reported fighting in the outskirts of Komarno, strategic Slovak communications base on the north bank of the Danube, but the communiqué did not mention the battle for that six-way rail town only 83 miles from Vienna.

Illinois Licenses Made Of Soybeans Gobbled By Puppy

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 11 (AP)—A pup of undetermined ancestry but with a notorious liking for soybean products in the form of 1944 Illinois license plates ran afoul of the law today.

Police Officer Lee Estrop sped the dog gnawing away at a license on a parked car and took the animal into custody. City Street Commissioner Frank Lock estimated it had destroyed 20 to 25 plates in three weeks.

Lock said the dog would be held 10 days, awaiting an owner.

LINES ORDERED HELD IN ITALY

Hitler Shifts Men From Norway To Bolster Reno River Flank

Rome, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Germans have transferred troops from Norway to strengthen their lines at the extreme eastern end of the Italian battlefield and Adolf Hitler has ordered present positions there held "at all costs," the Allied command announced today.

The importance attached by the enemy to this sector was deduced after an Eighth army counterattack on an enemy patrol on the south bank of the Reno in which ten prisoners were taken. They were members of the 710th Division, which headquarters said was newly brought to Italy from Norway, and they told of Hitler's orders to hold the Reno river line "at all costs."

Drifted snow and icy roads kept action all along the Italian front confined to patrol activity.

Sharp fights between patrols of both sides flared at several points along the Fifth army front, and the enemy hurled sporadic burning artillery fire. German snipers were active in several forward areas.

Houghton Recount Gives Kappler Seat

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP)—Frederick Kappler, Democrat, of Lake Linden, was declared the winner by a majority of 85 votes over Harry Hermann, Republican, in a recount of votes in the Houghton-Keweenaw state representative district completed today by a legislative committee.

Kappler won by four votes when the official election returns were reviewed by the Houghton and Keweenaw boards of canvassers. Hermann requested the recount.

RAIDING B-29'S HIT SINGAPORE

Drydocks And Vital Navy Installations Of Japs Are Battered

BY JOHN GROVER
20th Bomber Command Headquarters, India, Jan. 11 (AP)—Superfortresses winged over Malay Peninsula today for their second smash at Singapore drydocks and vital naval installations.

Georgetown Harbor on Penang Island off the west coast of the peninsula also was hit. A medium force of B-29s took off from bases in India on the double-header strike.

Singapore drydock facilities were first hit by Superforts November 5. The round trip of more than 3,500 miles constitutes a long distance record for daylight flights by military aircraft on a mission.

The Georgetown naval base has long been used by the Japanese as an important submarine haven. It is also a key distribution point for supplies and enemy merchant shipping. German submarines known to have operated in the Indian Ocean may have used it as a refueling base.

(The War Department in Washington reported "good" results).

Philippines Mail Service Resumed

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—Mail service will be resumed to the Philippines tomorrow.

Postmaster General Frank C. Walker said service will be limited to first-class letters to the three islands of Leyte, Samar and Mindoro.

Postage will be at the rate of three cents an ounce and fees for registered matter will be at the domestic rate.

At present only one letter or letter packet (such as is used by banks and commercial establishments) may be sent from the same sender to the same addressee in any one week.

U. S. Fleet Meets Japs Off French Indo China

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Jan. 11 (AP)—Carrier planes are "attacking the enemy off the coast of French Indo China," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced tonight and it seemed highly probable that a Japanese fleet was the target.

Nimitz cryptically stated the assault constituting the U. S. fleet's deepest penetration of Japan's inner defenses, fell "between Saigon and Camranh Bay."

He did not specify what was attacked but it is very probable a Japanese reinforcement convoy, escorted by warships, was intercepted while setting out for Yank-invaded Luzon in the Philippines.

Pointedly, the brief communiqué said the blows fell "off the coast."

Camranh Bay on the coast east of Saigon is one of the finest natural harbors in Asia. It has a large protected anchorage for capital warships.

The Pacific fleet carrier task forces, which a little over a week ago sent planes reconnoitering along 500 miles of the China coast during attacks on Formosa, had to move across the south China sea to unleash the aerial blow.

Adm. William F. Halsey's Third fleet is charged with the responsibility of preventing Japanese reinforcements from getting to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's expanding beachheads on Lingayen Gulf at Luzon.

To carry out the action just disclosed it had to cross Japan's great sea communication lanes to Nippon's stolen empire.

Camranh Bay is the closest and best protected Japanese fleet base from which the enemy could attempt reinforcement of Luzon. It is 1,000 miles from the Saigon area to Manila.

YANKS SEIZE MAIN ENEMY ANCHOR CITY

BELGIAN CONQUESTS GIVEN UP BY GERMANS

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Paris, Jan. 11. (AP)—The U. S. Third army threatened to cave in the Luxembourg front with a surprise stroke today that sent thousands of Germans fleeing into the woods and in Belgium the enemy began a 23-mile withdrawal that turned loose British patrols on a 10-mile eastward sweep.

The northwestern enemy anchor of LaRoche fell along with 15 other towns as German forces were reported evacuating the entire western apex of their Belgian and Luxembourg conquests.

Bottleneck Narrowed
Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's troops cut in half powerful box positions southeast of Bastogne from which three enemy divisions had been hammering at his lines from the east. The neck out of the box now was no more than two miles wide.

Resistance in the remainder of this area was reported collapsing rapidly as the Germans—caught off guard by the unexpected blow—floundered off into the snow drifts and woods toward the uncertain haven of Wiltz, ten miles east of Bastogne, where other Third army forces lie in wait.

The German high command admitted it was quitting all the Belgian bulge west of the Ourthe River and front dispatches said the new line was expected to run from Vielsalm on the north for 16 miles southwest through Houffalize to near Bastogne.

Truce Ends Civil Strife In Greece

BY STEPHEN BARBER
Athens, Friday, Jan. 11 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, and leftwing ELAS leaders have agreed on a truce ending the long and bloody civil strife which has been wracking this country.

Terms of the truce were not immediately disclosed.

Announcement that agreement had finally been reached came at the end of a prolonged conference in British headquarters in which four ELAS delegates participated.

The first meeting between the negotiators was held Wednesday and at its termination it was intimated that agreement was near.

State Senator, McKay Case Witness, Found Shot Dead In His Car

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP)—State Senator Warren G. Hooper, Michigan Republican who was a key witness in the one-man grand jury investigation of bribery in the Michigan legislature, was found shot to death tonight north of Springfield, Mich.

Hooper's body was found in his burning car.

Kim Sigler, special prosecutor who directed the grand jury inquiry for Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr, the one-man grand juror, ordered his own staff to investigate the case at once.

Lt. Lyle Morse of the Michigan state police said police were investigating the possibility that the 40-year-old legislator may have been the victim of a hitch-hiker.

James Way, the Jackson county coroner, said "state police are convinced it was a slaying," withheld a formal verdict. Way declared three bullet wounds were found in Hooper's head and added that "obviously he was shot by someone else."

The shooting, near where the body was found, is a town about 20 miles northwest of Jackson in the direction of Lansing.

The grand jury, which began its work August 23, 1943, has created a sensation in state politics, naming more than 50 prominent men in its warrants, including many legislators. Twenty have been convicted, four of whom are in prison, with 16 free on appeal.

Sigler said Hooper was "principal witness" in several of the cases before the grand jury, including one in which charges of conspiracy to bribe state legislators in connection with a parliamentary betting bill resulted in naming in warrants, Frank D. McKay, of Grand Rapids, Mich., former Republican national committeeman for Michigan; Floyd Fitzsimmons of Benton Harbor, Mich., sports promoter, and William Green of Hillman, Mich., former state representative, all of whom surrendered and were released on bond. In another case Hooper was described by Sigler as "of value" in connection with charges against William J. Burns, secretary of the State Medical society.

Sigler declared Hooper had given a "complete confession" to the grand jury and had been granted immunity from prosecution to testify concerning all the facts in the part-mutual case.

The car was found four miles north of Springfield. The weather in Michigan had begun to moderate after a severe cold snap, but the ground was thick with snow, and footprints were found, by state police, leading from the left door of the car through the snow to the pavement on the other side of the automobile, investigating officers stated.

The shooting had apparently occurred about 6 p. m., E. W. T. Hooper's car was travelling south, indicating he was on his way home to Albion, Mich., following the week-end adjournment of the state legislature. Police said marks on the highway indicated the car had skidded to the left after it went out of control. The ignition was turned off and the gears were in neutral.

Lloyd F. Mojeska of Springfield and M. B. Howard of Lansing were first on the scene, and pulled the state senator's body from the burning car, using snow to extinguish the blaze in the front seat. Officers said Howard told them Hooper's body was in the right front seat, slumped forward and to the left. There were two bullet holes in his hat and one through the rear right window.

The body was removed to the Hoffman funeral home at Springfield.

BRITISH TROOPS NEAR MANDALAY

Large Nipponese Base Falls; Chinese Also Score Successes

BY JOHN GROVER
Calcutta, Jan. 11 (AP)—British troops have captured and pushed through the large Japanese base on Shwebo in central Burma and are driving on down the railway toward Mandalay, fabled city on the Irrawaddy river now less than 46 miles away, an Allied communiqué announced today.

Shwebo, last important enemy resistance center north of Mandalay, was entered four days ago by Allied troops, who later overran its airfield. Today's announcement said the city "is completely in our hands and our troops have advanced south of the town."

(A Chinese communiqué issued in Chungking said troops of the Chinese First army, who last week captured Loiwing near the China Burma border, had advanced another four miles and seized a large airfield which Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Flying Tigers used a few years ago.)

(Other units of the same army, which virtually has cleared Japanese forces from the old Burma Road, were reported to have reached the Shweli river in several places just west of Namkham in northeastern Burma.)

The current series of Allied successes, which are fast driving the Japanese out of Burma, are the results of smart military chess that has checkmated the enemy at every turn.

Churchill's Envoy Killed In Pacific On MacArthur Ship

London, Jan. 11 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Herbert Lumsden, Prime Minister Churchill's personal representative to Gen. MacArthur, was killed by a Japanese air attack Jan. 6 aboard an American warship in the Pacific, the war office announced today amid indications they may have died while standing alongside the American command in chief.

Whether Gen. Lumsden was killed by a bomb hit on the bridge of an American warship or by a Japanese suicide plane, the two most likely causes, was not disclosed. Since he was Churchill's personal representative, however, Gen. Lumsden should have been on the fleet flagship and perhaps near MacArthur.

GAINS OF NINE MILES MADE AT LINGAYEN

JAPANESE UNABLE TO REINFORCE DEFENDERS

BY C. YATES MCDANIEL and JAMES HUTCHESON
General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Friday, Jan. 12. (AP)—American invaders of Luzon, punching seven to nine miles inland from their 25-mile-wide Lingayen Gulf beachheads, have seized five more towns and terminals of four main highways and a railroad leading to Manila. They found the first appreciable opposition at their deep-sea spearhead.

Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth army units have been advancing for two days as far and as fast as reasonable caution and the movement of supplies has permitted.

The 48-hour advance has carried the Americans well south of the maze of swamp country at the mouth of the meandering Agno River and into anything more than isolated and quickly eliminated sniper resistance.

Only on the extreme left flank, along the Pozorrubio road, have the Americans run into anything more than isolated and quickly eliminated sniper resistance.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communiqué today made the first mention of "combat contact" near Pozorrubio, at the end of the deepest spearhead east of the San Fabian landing beach. He gave no indication of the severity of the fighting there.

The original 15-mile beachheads were widened to at least 25 miles with the capture of the mouth of the Agno, which empties into the Lingayen Gulf west of captured Lingayen town.

Road Junction Taken
Nine miles represented the deepest point of penetration in the time covered in the communiqué. Since the communiqué always lags 24 hours behind operations it was probable patrols had driven deeper since then.

The first stiffened resistance was at the left flank east of the San Fabian beachhead. There the Sixth army troops had seized the road junction town of Manaoag and were advancing northward toward Pozorrubio when they encountered the enemy force.

Pozorrubio is on the route to Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines and possibly the seat of Japanese leaders. There was no indication of the severity of the fighting.

MacArthur's communiqué said the Japanese, still unable to recover from the apparent surprise landings in the Lingayen Gulf after an invasion from the south had been expected, were unable to move their forces from the south in sufficient strength to impede

CITIES CALLING FOR TAX STUDY

Group Denies Attempt To Get Cut Of Big State Surplus

BY JACK I. GREEN
Jackson, Mich., Jan. 11. (AP)—Representatives of 10 major Michigan cities agreed today to support the governor's tax study committee if it goes through with its tentative recommendations for a local sales tax, a revised formula for distributing gas and weight taxes and a stiffened intangibles tax.

The municipal officials, including men from the larger 15-mile tax cities, called for a unified municipal support for the committee's proposals when and if they reach the legislature.

The conference was called by Mayor Daniel J. Hackett, of Jackson, but Mayor Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit appeared to be holding the reins.

"The tax study committee recommendations can have great weight with the governor and some weight with the legislature," Jeffries said. "If we could go along with the committee these would be a fair chance of getting some results. Unanimity is our only chance."

Led by City Manager George T. Gundry of Flint, the group was quick to deny it was seeking a cut of the state's swelling treasury surplus. State officials have said it was earmarked for postwar building and repairs.

GAIN OF NINE MILES MADE AT LINGAYEN

The Yanks' progress notably. Enemy air activity was reported still negligible.

Small Craft Attack
In expanding their beachhead westward the Americans seized Labrador, on the opposite side of the Agno River. A seven-mile epinuray was made beyond Umanday at the western edge of a valley and plain that leads southward toward Manila. Umanday is a focal point on the main north-south highway in the west.

A parallel column moving southward from the center of the beachhead area also pushed seven miles along a highway route, taking the road junction towns of Clasia and Bulog. Bulog is five miles beyond captured Dupan. Light Japanese naval craft raided the American anchorage before dawn Wednesday. MacArthur's communiqué said, "causing damage to our shipping." A spokesman said these were small, improvised craft designed for attacks against shipping. Most of them were reported sunk.

Heavy air strikes over Luzon reported in the communiqué were on the day of the landing. Ninety tons of bombs were dropped on Clark Field, largest in the Philippines, and Nichols and Nielson Fields in the Manila area.

Heavy and medium bombers and attack planes bombed and strafed roads and rail lines by which reinforcements and supplies could be moved by the enemy. Many locomotives and 100 freight cars were reported destroyed or damaged.

Key Airfield Near

Clark Field, a major objective ahead of the Yanks, was less than 40 miles distant. Situated on the west side of the wide open plain stretching to Manila Bay, Clark Field is but 75 miles northwest of the capital city. It is along the railroad running northward from Manila to Dagupan, the Lingayen area was seized quickly by landing forces.

A delayed dispatch from Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent, reported the 14th army corps had pushed west along the southern Lingayen coast within two miles of Port Sual. This operation gave General MacArthur's forces a solid beachhead base of more than 20 miles, running from near Port Sual to San Fabian.

As Vice Adm. Thomas Kinkaid's 7th fleet poured troops, munitions and supplies ashore, it encountered the usual enemy tricks. A dozen Nipponese swimmers, shoving boxes of explosives, were caught paddling around in the transport area. Two were captured. Others were shot in the water when they resisted capture.

The only enemy opposition Wednesday night to the landing operations came from bomb-carrying Japanese. They used hand-made torpedoes, grenades or tiny bombs. Vice Adm. Daniel B. Barbey, commanding the 7th amphibious force, described the attack as "more odd than effective."

City's Past And Future Is Forum Program Theme

The history of Escanaba's success under the council-manager form of city government, and the challenge that faces the city now in continuing a progressive program for the future, was the theme of the first annual Citizens Forum program held last night in the First Presbyterian church hall.

The theme was developed by John P. Norton, who traced the history of city manager government since its inception in 1922, and concluded with the assertion that a change in city managers is a challenge to the city council, and was continued by City Manager George E. Bean, who will leave Sunday to assume a similar position in Pontiac. Bean asserted that the council must have the active cooperation and vision of the people if a full postwar program is to be carried out.

Legislature Ready To Start Business; Committees Named

Lansing, Jan. 11 (P)—The state house of representatives is ready to swing into its stride, following Speaker Howard Nugent's appointment today of the standing committees through whose hands all legislation must pass.

The appointment of the committees was the only major development in today's session, because the legislature adjourned early so its Republican members could attend their state convention in Grand Rapids.

The house Republican majority received the major share of the important committee chairmanships and membership. Nugent brought five new faces into the important ways and means committee, which handles all finance legislation, and in some instances disregarded seniority. He said he did this because he considered some "younger blood" would strengthen the group.

Rep. John P. Espie, Eagle Republican, retained chairmanship of the committee, to serve with Reps. Calvert, Warner, Courter, Knox, McKay, Graebner and Morrison, who had served before, and Engstrom, Phillips, Hoxie, Leszynski and Conlin, newcomers. Leszynski is the only Democrat in the group.

On the labor committee Nugent appointed Rep. Elton R. Eaton, Plymouth Republican, chairman, to serve with Reps. Goulette, Town, Gillespie, Kirk, Carey, Doyle, Kenny and Sienkiewicz. The last four are Democrats, and Carey and Kenny are identified with labor unions.

The senate labor committee, includes neither Democrats nor senators identified with the labor movement. Rep. Edison V. Root, Paw Paw Republican, retained chairmanship of the education committee and Rep. Walter G. Herrick, Hubbardston Republican, chairmanship of the general taxation committee. Among other important chairmanships assigned are Rep. James B. Stanley, Kalamazoo Republican, judiciary committee; Rep. James Goulette, Iron Mountain Republican, liquor control; Rep. Hugo A. Nelson, Indian River Republican, local taxation; Rep. John W. Banasch, Jackson Republican, private corporations; Rep. Charles R. Feenstra, Grand Rapids Republican, public utilities; Rep. James Kirk, Vassar Republican, rules and resolutions; Rep. Maurice E. Post, Rockford Republican, state affairs.

Serving with the veteran Chairman Post on that committee are Reps. Storey, Thomson, Nagel, Acker, Lindquist, Michael O'Brien, Schuch and Freye. Nagel and O'Brien are Democrats.

up on the west in a general advance of three miles, the Germans had pulled out so quickly that all contact was lost except for a few snipers.

Retreat Speedy

Tommies moved in from the northwest in force and seized the town of Ronchamps, only three miles southwest of doughboys in newly-captured LaRoche.

On the south, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army in heavy attacks from three sides, cut the size of the strong Harlange box in half in 11 hours, took 400 prisoners, slaughtered a retreating convoy and sent survivors floundering through snowdrifts into the woods.

On the North American gains in the last 24 hours carried them into Vielsalm and across the Salm, and to within about six miles of Houffalize on the north.

The Berlin radio said the Canadian First army had launched an attack south of Nijmegen in eastern Holland, but this was without Allied confirmation.

Bridgehead Squeezed

On the front of the U. S. Seventh and French First armies in France, the Germans attacked again south of Bitche, near France's northeastern frontier. On the Rhine a German bridgehead of a few miles north of Strasbourg was being squeezed and the French were checking the enemy push ten miles south of the city.

The 82nd airborne division fought into Vielsalm and crossed the Salm River on a front 1,000 yards wide. To the northeast patrols ranged boldly and deeply into German-held territory south of Malmédy without encountering resistance.

As the mercury dipped to nine above zero, the 83rd infantry division five miles southwest of Vielsalm penetrated the village of Langlin, only three and a half miles north of the last good enemy line of retreat out of the bulge.

The third armored division was locked in a tank battle in this area with German forces trying to keep the roof of the sagging bulge from caving in before von Rundstedt can extricate all his forces.

The 83rd also, Bhain, seven miles north of Houffalize and pressed on nearly a mile south where fierce fighting broke out.

To the west, LaRoche fell quickly as doughboys who came in from the north joined up with those who had crossed the Ourthe River south of the town. Striking straight eight, the British meanwhile moved their whole line forward as much as three miles.

Government Forbids Resort Trains, Bans Advertising Lights

Washington, Jan. 11 (P)—The government tonight forbade future operation of passenger trains to provide seasonal service to resorts, recreational or vacation areas.

A tightening up of the September, 1942, "freeze" of passenger service also directed the railroads to discontinue after March 1 any passenger train schedule on which the occupancy of seats and space did not average 35 per cent during November, 1944.

Meantime, officials went to work to implement War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes' order for a widespread "brownout" of advertising lights and other illumination drawing upon scarce fuels.

The ban, it was tentatively decided, will apply also to show window lighting, and will call for dimming of white street lighting where public safety permits.

The passenger curtailment orders were issued by the office of defense transportation, in response to a request by Byrnes, as a fuel conservation move.

Since Sept. 30, 1942, no railroad has been permitted to operate special or excursion trains without ODT approval, and the agency said "very few special trains" have been approved.

"The effect of today's action is to eliminate seasonal passenger train schedules to resort areas which were not discontinued by the 'freeze' order," ODT said.

The order does not affect suburban and interurban service. ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson said that while a general "freeze" order has kept passenger service at the general level of Sept. 30, 1942, "this new order means fewer people will be able to travel now."

There was no estimate as to the number of trains that would be affected by the ban on seasonal schedules to resorts.

The forthcoming "brown-out," it was tentatively decided, will prohibit the use of electricity, produced from scarce fuels, in:

1. Outdoor advertising, promotional and display lighting.

2. Outdoor decorative and ornamental lighting.

3. Show window lighting.

4. Marquee lighting.

5. White street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local authorities to be necessary for public safety.

6. Outdoor sign lighting except for directional or identification signs certified to be necessary by local public authorities for fire and police protection, traffic control, hospitals, doctors, or similar community services essential for public health and safety.

The order will apply to all fuels "in short supply," including coal and fuel oil. Lighting generated from hydro-electric plants and plants using gas, in areas where gas is plentiful, will not be affected.

Man From Inside Baseball Expected To Succeed Landis

BY JACK HAND
New York, Jan. 11 (P)—Straws in the wind today indicated a baseball man would be chosen to succeed the late Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, possibly at the February joint meeting of the major leagues in New York.

An Associated Press poll of club owners and general managers, who must make the decision, revealed a decided trend toward a man versed in the rules and problems of the game rather than a nationally-known figure not identified with the sport.

With the exception of President Ed Barrow of the New York Yankees, who said he would support any one of four men, none of the moguls offered candidates.

Barrow said he would vote for President Ford Frick of the National League, President Will Harbridge of the American League, General Manager Warren Giles of Cincinnati or Louis McAvoy, director of broadcasting in the American loop. He insisted on a man from within the game.

USES Places Vets During December

Manager S. F. Wagner of the Escanaba office of the United States Employment Service announced today that 7 veterans of World War II were placed in jobs by the USES here last month.

"We want all returning service men to know that the latch-string at the Employment Service here is always out to them. Finding them suitable jobs is one of our greatest ambitions and one that we are proud to perform," he declared.

The Employment Service office here is located at 1323 Ludington Street.

New Draft Phase

A NEW phase of the draft program is in the process of formation, it is indicated in announcements from the national capital. To fill the increased draft calls planned for the next six months, added emphasis will be placed upon men 26 through 29 years of age who are now deferred because of work in essential occupations.

If the same yardstick is used in calling men in the 26-29 age group that was followed for the induction of men under 26, it can be expected that there will be relatively few deferments for able-bodied men in this age category. A large number of these men, in fact, probably will be called into military service from their present war production jobs.

This will mean, naturally, that their places in war plants must be taken by older age men. Undersecretary of War Patterson estimates that 700,000 new workers will be needed in war plants within the next six months.

With these facts in mind, it becomes quite clear that congress may be forced to take some action to assure that war production plants will get the number of men required to fill their requirements.

One thing is sure. This new problem is distasteful to voted-minded congressmen and there undoubtedly will be purposeful delays in the hope that the present acceleration of movement of men to war jobs, due to the latest draft directives, may be the answer to the problem.

News Values

THE exigencies of war have brought to the newspaper makers of the land a necessity for a new sense of news evaluation. News that would make the page one headlines of yesterday is shunted into minor positions because the worker, who evaluates the news of each day, must know the news interest of his readers.

Page one of the Daily Press of Thursday offers a shining example of this development. That page carried at least seven news stories that, under other conditions, could well have been considered of sufficient importance to demand first place in Page one display. There was the news story of the crashing of an air-liner and the loss of 24 lives; the loss of three U. S. destroyers in a south Pacific typhoon; the withdrawal of von Rundstedt's forces on the western front; the imminent fall of Budapest before the Russian armies; a national scarcity of coal and the necessity for restrictive consumption; the necessity for a sharp increase in draft quotas and developments in the state grand jury investigation at Lansing, were the news stories of the day that might well have been considered of top importance and worthy of principal front page display.

But the man who evaluates the news of each day for The Press, gave first position to the progress of fighting on the island of Luzon. He made that selection because he believed the greatest reader interest, right now, is centered in the progress of American forces in the Philippines. A comparison of the headlines of most newspapers of the nation yesterday will prove that the Luzon story was the piece picked by individual news analysts for principal display.

The necessity for more careful news evaluation than ever before is a new responsibility for the newspapers of America and even the smaller newspapers are not falling down on the job.

Harmful Influence

THE 15-year-old youth, who was arrested for entering a couple Escanaba homes this week, left behind a copy of one of the true crime comics books that are having a wide sale among children today.

While the publishers of these periodicals may contend that the criminal is always put in a bad light in these comics and stories, young readers oftentimes miss this point. Their adolescent minds become imbued with the false idea that a career of crime is both manly and adventurous. In fact, many youthful escapades have been traced to bad reading.

Just how trashy literature can be kept out of the hands of children poses quite a problem, of course, but it is a matter that might well be given serious consideration by organizations that are interested in the welfare of youth. Parents can help by selling their children on the idea of visiting the public library, where all reading material is carefully selected with a view toward benefiting the reader.

Good Farm Roads Wanted

ELIMINATION of the "mud age" in rural transportation through the construction of well-paved farm to highway roads is urged as part of the nation's postwar highway program by Capper's Farmer, well known agricultural publication.

Too many farms are still on a mud basis so far as transportation is concerned, according to an editorial in Capper's Farmer. This fact is deplored because mud consumes time, it wears out cars and trucks, it wastes oil and fuel, and delays marketing of perishable products.

Road construction promises to be one of the most effective means of furnishing jobs to the unemployed after the war is over. It is the type of work that fits the needs of unskilled laborers, who usually head the jobs list. Road improvements always benefit the general public for rapid transportation will be one of the prime requisites of this motor age.

Ernie Pyle Returns

ERNE PYLE, the globe-trotting reporter whose human interest stories about GI Joe have been so popular with Press readers, has shown off from San Francisco as a war correspondent to report on the fighting with the Japs in the Pacific.

Recognized as the war's greatest reporter of the human side of the conflict, Ernie will take up where he left off—mingling with our boys in the Pacific as he did with those on the other side of the world, sharing their hardships, winning their devoted friendship, learning what they feel and think, and putting into his day-by-day diary the poignant little incidents that show what war means to the individual.

Of frail physique, Ernie Pyle was finally forced to take a rest after months of living close to the battle lines. Now, he is ready to go to work again. This time he will be with the Navy, but it is likely that before he's through, he'll go ashore again to hobnob with the GI Joes who will be pushing the Japs back until victory is won. Incidentally, it will be interesting to also read what Ernie will write about those far-off places in the Pacific and the people who inhabit them.

BOUQUET FOR CIVIL SERVICE (Grand Rapids Press)

The department of revenue is the only major state department whose personnel is completely under the civil service system. That department, as it has functioned since its consolidation, is conceded to be one of the best operated in state government.

Especially significant, therefore, is its recognition of the contribution of civil service to the improved morale of its employees. In his annual report the department's director, Louis M. Nims, gives civil service the credit for the fact that the work of veteran employees and the caliber of new employees have both improved.

"Individual output has increased," he says, "because the employee recognizes the security and protection now afforded him under civil service and appreciates the fact that no longer is he under any obligation other than to perform his official duties in the best possible manner. No political consideration influences the application of the statute. The caliber of new employees is improving and should continue to gain in the postwar period as better salaries and opportunities for advancement attract capable, skilled and educated personnel."

This confirms the view that civil service, in stabilizing employment and eliminating appointments based on political obligations, is accompanied by greater efficiency, which in turn results in payroll and other economies. Thus its eventual extension throughout the entire machinery of state government promises the state better administration at less cost.

A success doesn't spend all he makes—a failure doesn't make all he spends.

AGAIN AND AGAIN AND AGAIN

F. D. R.'s pronunciation of again to rhyme with "a pain" is one of the few Briticisms in his speech. It is also much more prevalent in the East than elsewhere in the country.

All American dictionaries prefer "uh-GAYN" at all. If they show "uh-GAYN" at all, they label it "British." Noah Webster, in his original American Dictionary (1828), recognized only "uh-GEN" and "uh-GENST."

As a matter of fact, the original Anglo-Saxon spelling of again was "agen."

Thumbnail Lesson in French
One of the most important words in French is the simple preposition de. It means "of; from; in; than."

In French names, de has the meaning of "from (a place); of the family or clan of." It is similar to the German "von," but, in France, de in a personal name is not necessarily a sign of noble lineage.

Now note carefully—especially you newscasters and commentators—in French de is NEVER "dee" nor "day." To pronounce de correctly, simply give "e" the obscure "uh" sound, as if to say "dub" without pronouncing the "b," thus: duh.

And please, p-e-e-a-s-e, gentlemen of the radio, there is no "gall" in de Gaulle. This name has international, yes, historic, importance. Is it unreasonable to ask broadcasters to pronounce it correctly?

See how easy it is. Gaulle rhymes with "dole, mole, pole" and the general's first name, Charles, is not "Charles." The "a" is flat, as in "carrot, arrogant." The final "l" is silent. Say: shari du GOLE.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—"The budget of the United States government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946" is a book that weighs more than the fattest telephone directory, which is not surprising, since it prescribes the spending, for war and peace, of some 83 billions of dollars.

On pages 581 to 600, the department of state puts in its request for $75,213,400, including an increase of $28,462,812 over the fiscal year 1945. The increase is to provide for Secretary of State Stettinius' program of expansion and modernization of a department that has limped along about a hundred years behind the times.

That has been one of the strange contrasts of our ERA. The department of state is, in effect, the department of peace. Its first objective is to maintain good relations with the other nations of the world.

—EXPANDING FOREIGN SERVICE—
Yet year after year, Congress has treated it like a stepchild. In the light of this record of miserliness, I imagine Stettinius hesitated about asking for even as much as that $28,000,000 increase.

The increase will go mainly to expand the foreign service in the field and to build up the department's information service both at home and abroad. Only a small amount will be available to add to the permanent force at work in Washington.

There is a real question, if a thorough job of modernization is to be done, whether the additional amount requested will be adequate. Recently I have been given a worm's eye view of the department by those who have been working under great handicaps in a horse and buggy atmosphere.

Officials have been handicapped by a lack of stenographic help to do routine work. The filing system is so antiquated as to seem ludicrous to anyone familiar with modern business technique. As the White House moved assistants into the department of state building, less and less space has been available, so that division chiefs have had to talk to ministers and ambassadors in a crowded room.

This may sound like Trivia. It seems to me to be important. You sometimes get the impression the department was back in the days when the ambassador signed his name with a flourish and then dusted sand over the signature because no one had got around to thinking up blotting paper.

—WILL BE BIG TASK—
Consider the burden that will fall on the department of peace this year. The task in hand now is to prepare the data to support the position which President Roosevelt takes when he sits down with Churchill and Stalin at their forthcoming meeting.

That in itself is a big job. It means covering the whole field of foreign and economic relations. When the President turns to an assistant to ask what the oil production in the Middle East is, or the number of Rumanians living in Bessarabia, the information given him must be exact and current.

Then the expectation is for a full-fledged meeting of the United Nations to consider action on a world security plan. That will require endless planning and effort.

In addition, other conferences are in progress or shortly coming up. Most of us have little understanding of the preparation that precedes these international meetings. We see the news reels of the gentlemen shaking hands or we read about the official banquet, and assume too often that that is the whole story.

You get some interesting contrasts in the fat volume on the budget. Whereas the state department takes fewer than 20 pages to list its requests, secretary of the Interior takes 140 pages to itemize demands for more than $100,000,000. The department of agriculture adds up to a total of $378,931,050.

Economizers in Congress may be able to pare some non-war expenditures, although in comparison to the grand total for war they will be only candle ends. But there should be no hesitation in granting the state department this reasonable increase.

Well, I hope that news story about the dogs in Illinois eating up all the soy bean auto license plates will be a good lesson for the scientists.

It seems to me, when science starts something no one, including the scientists, knows where it is going to finish. I understand it was a determined alchemist who was trying to turn lead into gold when he accidentally discovered gunpowder. And now where are we?

And I think Thomas A. Edison would have thought twice about inventing the phonograph if he had realized he would be known as the "Father of the Juke Box."

Personally, the more I hear about the soy bean the more it frightens me. Why, it could become a vegetable Frankenstein. It seems you can make anything from soup to steamships with it. You can eat the soy bean, live in it, wear it, and make jokes out of it.

Already science knows how to make mechanical men. Maybe some day we'll have a soy-bean husband. But the day I'm looking forward to is when some scientist figures out how to make a scientist out of soy beans. It will serve him right.

Theory and Practice

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

HISTORY IS MADE — There was once a time, as the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News comments editorially, when parents used to sew their children into their winter underwear. And there also was a time when the ice in rivers and channels "sewed up" the Upper Lakes to halt navigation for three months of the year.

That condition no longer exists as of this week, for in a history-making in 10-day winter voyage three ships from Lake Superior were conveyed by Coast Guard ice breakers through the two most difficult ice-choked channels on the Upper Lakes—the St. Mary's river and the Straits of Mackinac. Taking a leading part in that convey was the new 10 million dollar ice breaker Mackinaw, launched recently at Cleveland.

It has been the dream of Great Lakes mariners for a century that the time would come when all-winter transportation would be possible on the Upper Great Lakes. Yet for the past 50 years there has been practically no new inventions or methods employed to accomplish this.

The wartime demands for materials and more materials, ranging from iron ore to lumber and wheat, brought determination to break the icy chains that held fast the navigation channels of the Great Lakes each winter.

THROUGH CENTURIES—When winter clamps icy fingers down on the Great Lakes there are hazards that have been almost insurmountable up to now. The greatest toll of shipping takes place each year in the stormy period at the end of the navigation season. The storms start in September, become more intense as fall and winter advance.

About 250 years ago the first sailing ship on the Great Lakes, LaSalle's Griffon, sailed from Washington Island in September with a load of furs. The Griffon, only about 40 feet long, was swallowed up in the raging seas.

The Indians seldom ventured out on the Upper Lakes in the fall. Rather they retreated from the stormy shores to establish winter camps inland. Yet the ice was their friend, too, for they cut holes in the bay ice to fish. About 1701 Father Joliet at Chicago rigged a sail on his canoe—and went skimming along on the smooth ice. Perhaps it was the first time that anyone tried ice-boating on the Great Lakes.

ICE BREAKERS — Thousands of sailing vessels plied the Great Lakes before advent of the steamship. Yet always, when fall came, navigation halted until the following spring. This applied to the steam vessels as well as sailing craft. Man had not yet learned that ice was only another barrier to be broken and overcome.

It was at the Straits of Mackinac that the test and the solution to the problem occurred. There Old Cap Boynton, veteran skipper, lashed two of his ships bow to stern and bucked ice until late fall, and opened harbors in early spring.

And the construction of railroads through the Upper Peninsula brought another and principal reason for all-winter transportation across the Straits of Mackinac. What use in shipping by rail if there was an unbridgeable gap at the Straits which separated Upper and Lower Michigan by four miles of water?

So ships designed for ice-breaking were constructed. The first was the Algoma, which towed railroad cars back and forth on an open barge. Other and larger ice breakers replaced the Algoma, including the Sainte Marie and Chief Wawatam, which are still in service.

Besides the Straits traffic, there are carferries operating on northern Lake Michigan into Manitowish and Menominee which must also break ice except in the mildest winters.

BOWL OF RICHES—The northernmost of the Great Lakes is Lake Superior. Its shores, also, contain the greatest mineral wealth in the world in vast deposits of iron and copper ores. Besides this, there are the great forests, and to the west the gleaming fields of grain. Yet water transportation on Lake Superior was the first to close each fall and the last to open in the spring.

DREAM COMES TRUE — The dream of mariners that sometime ice-bound channels would no longer be a barrier and that all-winter navigation on Lake Superior would be accomplished is today a reality.

This does not mean that tomorrow, or next winter, or even the next decade will bring Lakes ships out for all-winter operation. But it is a fact that the "ice has been broken," tradition has been flouted, and the future will bring year-around navigation to Lake Superior, one of the richest areas in natural resources in the world.

It can be presumed that for the next few years there will be little or no change in the old navigation routine. Ships will lay up each fall in lower lakes ports as they do today. Ice will continue to close the St. Mary's river each winter.

Then there will come a reason for keeping open those channels steadily, such as the condition at the Straits of Mackinac that demanded all-winter transportation of railroad cars. And then mariners will hark back to January 7, 1945, when history was made, and they will know that if it was done then it can be repeated.

Perhaps the construction of a St. Lawrence seaway, opening the Great Lakes to the Atlantic for deepwater vessels, may result in all-winter navigation on the Upper Lakes. Salt water sailors will find that it is not only the Baltic and Barents Seas that can be unlocked by the power of ice breakers.

BOWL OF RICHES—The northernmost of the Great Lakes is Lake Superior. Its shores, also, contain the greatest mineral wealth in the world in vast deposits of iron and copper ores. Besides this, there are the great forests, and to the west the gleaming fields of grain. Yet water transportation on Lake Superior was the first to close each fall and the last to open in the spring.

DREAM COMES TRUE — The dream of mariners that sometime ice-bound channels would no longer be a barrier and that all-winter navigation on Lake Superior would be accomplished is today a reality.

This does not mean that tomorrow, or next winter, or even the next decade will bring Lakes ships out for all-winter operation. But it is a fact that the "ice has been broken," tradition has been flouted, and the future will bring year-around navigation to Lake Superior, one of the richest areas in natural resources in the world.

It can be presumed that for the next few years there will be little or no change in the old navigation routine. Ships will lay up each fall in lower lakes ports as they do today. Ice will continue to close the St. Mary's river each winter.

Then there will come a reason for keeping open those channels steadily, such as the condition at the Straits of Mackinac that demanded all-winter transportation of railroad cars. And then mariners will hark back to January 7, 1945, when history was made, and they will know that if it was done then it can be repeated.

Perhaps the construction of a St. Lawrence seaway, opening the Great Lakes to the Atlantic for deepwater vessels, may result in all-winter navigation on the Upper Lakes. Salt water sailors will find that it is not only the Baltic and Barents Seas that can be unlocked by the power of ice breakers.

Besides the Straits traffic, there are carferries operating on northern Lake Michigan into Manitowish and Menominee which must also break ice except in the mildest winters.

News From Men In The Service

Seaman First Class Howard Blair, son of Mrs. Lottie Blair, of 300 South 24th street, has been promoted to the rank of coxswain, his mother has been advised. He entered the service three years ago and has been serving overseas the past 16 months.

Pvt. Frank A. Richer of the Medical Department has been awarded the Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster, in addition to the Bronze Star medal previously awarded, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations on December 5, 6 and 7 in the vicinity of Saarlautern, Germany.

The citation received by Pvt. Richer, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Richer of Bark River, Route 2, is as follows:

"Attaching to cut the line of communications to elements of the Infantry Regiment on the east side of the Saar River, the Germans on 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 December 1944, laid down a continual artillery and mortar barrage. Throughout this period blanket shelling as well as machine gun and small arms fire continued without cease. Under this dreadful fire, Private Richer performed his duty as assistant ambulance driver, evacuating the wounded, some of whom were in need of immediate definitive medical treatment, with cool, intrepid skill.

"The route of evacuation was over the bridge at Saarlautern, the primary enemy target in that area, but neither the fierce German fire nor the debris littering road lessened Private Richer's unswerving devotion to duty. The gallant behavior of Private Richer reflects distinct credit on him and is in accordance with the highest traditions of the Medical Department."

Fort Benning, Georgia. — Pfc. Robert Sloan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Sloan, of 119 So. 3rd St. Escanaba, Mich., has won the right to wear "Wings and Boots" of the United States Army Paratroops. He has completed four weeks of jump training during which time he made five jumps, the last a tactical jump at night involving a combat problem on landing.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE E-262: Helen S., aged 24, is private secretary to two men. "I like one of my bosses very much, but the other one irritates me terribly," she announced, as she sat down angrily in my office.

"The one I dislike is called Sam. He is an obnoxious type of male who tries to show his authority and barks at you over the slightest mistake."

"The other day he found a typographical error in one of my letters. He made a big circle around it with red pencil and put half a dozen question marks on the margin, thus ruining the letter so I had to re-type it."

"He gets me so upset, I actually make more errors. He has me jittery and nervous. I can't enjoy my lunch. It gives me indigestion."

"But I make a high salary, and don't think I could do as well elsewhere. Dr. Crane, I hate this man. Should I quit and take a lower salary for the sake of my health?"

Diagnosis
It is always fun to do a little experimenting in Applied Psychology before you make a drastic move like quitting a good job or filing for a divorce.

You can always quit a job or file for a divorce at a later date, so it does no great harm to delay a few weeks and make one final effort to prove what I tell you in this column.

So I urged Helen to try the Compliment Club technique on the boss she disliked so intensely.

I wouldn't give that man the satisfaction of receiving a compliment from me!" she protested at the outset.

Psychology Really Works
But I persuaded her to try my plan, partly to prove to herself that she could make her brain rule her emotions.

"The Bible urges you to love your enemies," I said, for she was a devout Catholic girl, "so this is an excellent chance to prove Christ's paradoxical statement. The Compliment Club technique is psychology's method for producing this seemingly impossible miracle."

She finally agreed to my plan. Later she admitted it took all of her Christian fortitude to force a grudging compliment across her lips, but she said to him: "That's certainly a fine grade of cloth in your new suit."

It might have been better to have told him he looked well in the suit, which was true, but she confessed she couldn't quite force herself to praise his looks. Her compliment about the fabric was the best compromise she could force herself to utter.

But the next day she found it slightly easier, for habits soon develop, even as regards looking for good traits in others and then complimenting the latter.

Proof of the Pudding
I didn't see Helen for three months. Then she dropped in for a few minutes to report.

"I didn't believe it would ever work in my case," she admitted, "but everything has turned out importance to a cocktail suit.

Look for new tricks with armholes, higher necklines, shoulders as wide as ever but more subtly rounded, to simulate the ideal natural shoulder line.

Look for new color combinations—sometimes three colors in one suit. Look for the dramatic use of scarfs as part of the costume.

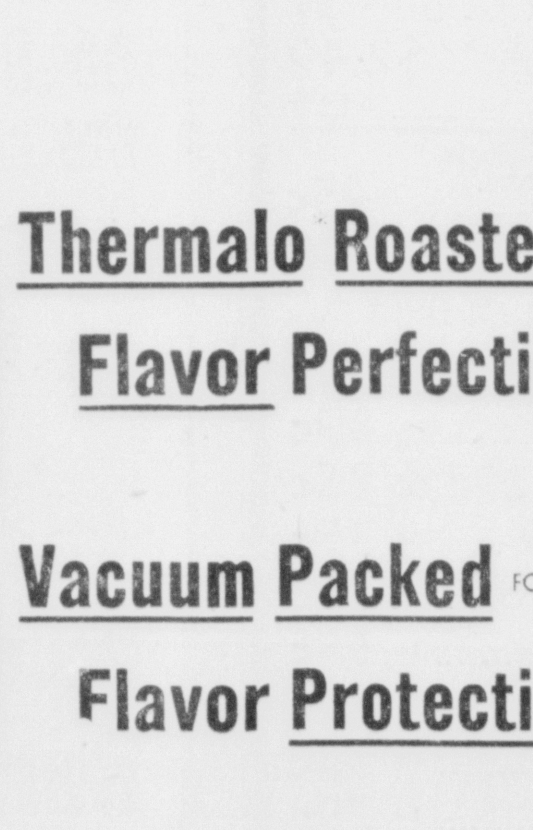

Look for lots of navy, as usual in spring, but more color variety, too.

Look for romantic "Renoir" bonnets of straw piled with field flowers, worn unexpectedly with tailored suits.

Look for more femininity, more dressmaker detail, flattering formality and dramatic contrasts. It's to be a suit spring, as usual, but the melody has changed.

SLIP COVER CARE

Wash your slip covers frequently to keep them looking bright. Build up two or three-inch suds of mild soap flakes in hot water, then reduce the temperature to lukewarm, and wash thoroughly. If you use a starch that contains a wax-like product it will keep covers satiny smooth and will help serve as a dust resister. When you dry chair or sofa slip covers, hang, if possible, on parallel lines, pinning the back to one line and the front to the other. The slip covers should then dry in shape.

Fruit juices like apple, cherry, grape, peach and pear juice contain little Vitamin C and when served in place of citrus fruits other C-rich foods should be served.

PROCEDURE IN DRAFT GIVEN

4-F's May Be Utilized Due To Lowered Requirements

Men who have left occupations for which they have been deferred and who are ordered for preinduction examination will be sent to examining centers in the same group with regular selectees, the local draft board announced yesterday.

However, men called for examination because they have left an essential occupation will be designated on separate delivery lists and if they are not found acceptable for general military service, they may be acceptable for induction under the lowered physical standards and be utilized in non-combat jobs.

The standards now established under the lowered physical requirements for non-combat men, perhaps most of them, who have been rejected for general military service would qualify for the military labor service.

This change in physical standards is designed to give local draft boards greater control over 4-F's and if it accomplishes its purpose of freezing war workers, including 4-F's, in war jobs, it is unlikely that many men will be drafted under this procedure.

The local board has not yet received any directives for a general processing of men between the ages of 26 and 30, procedure of which was announced Wednesday in Washington. Up to now the local boards have been authorized to call for induction only those beyond the age of 25 who are not engaged in essential jobs, or who left occupations for which they have been deferred. Directives concerning this procedure, however, probably will be received within the next several days.

ROAD EMPLOYEES GIVEN HEARING

Delta Road Commission Promises To Meet With Committee

Although refusing to recognize any person as the exclusive bargaining agent for its employees, the Delta county road commission has promised to meet with a committee composed of county road employees following a meeting of the commission, an employees' committee, and the labor relations committee of the county board of supervisors held Wednesday night at the road commission office.

The employees group will confer with the employees to determine next step in negotiation with the commission. The meeting was called by the employees labor relations committee as another step in the process of settling the question of employee representation.

Previously the county road commission refused to recognize Arnold Alsten, business agent for the truck drivers' union, as exclusive bargaining agent for its employees. A strike notice was served on the commission for a walkout Dec. 22, but the strike was never called. The labor relations committee of the county board is composed of Supervisors Elmer Kiesel, chairman, Victor Nelson and August Olsson. Supervisor O. J. Thorsen, chairman of the county board, also attended the meeting.

August Larson is chairman of the county road commission. Other members are Marcus McNabb and Hilding Nordstrom. Also present at the meeting was J. T. Sharpsteen, county road engineer.

Disarmed Enemy Is Demanded By Sen. Vandenberg

BY JACK BELL
Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) asked Congress and the President yesterday to give the world immediate assurance this nation will meet with "instantaneous" force any effort of a defeated Germany or Japan to rearm.

Launching a 2½ hour senate discussion of foreign policy, the Michigan senator said this nation ought to demand in "honest candor" that all separate agreements on Europe's snarled political problems be put on a purely temporary basis and subjected to review by a proposed international security organization.

He called for the American government to "reignite the torch" of the Atlantic Charter with a statement that we have not altered our original commitments to its principles.

The three-pronged proposals made by the chairman of the senate Republican conference (D-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations committee the reply—apparently typical of most Democratic reaction—that the problems involved in future world peace cannot be handled now.

Vandy Steals Show
Connally was the only Democrat to take part in the debate. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) followed Vandenberg with a proposal that the senate take the initiative in writing a "strong, effective foreign policy" statement. He plans to offer later a resolution urging formation of an interim United Nations Council to supervise liberated territories.

But it was Vandenberg, obviously moving to make a Republican record of constructive foreign policy suggestions, who stole the show. Leaning on a pulpit-like stand mounted on his desk, the tall Michigan legislator broadened his stand on international security questions as the well-filled senate listened intently.

The chief motive power behind unilateral moves of Russia and Britain in Europe, Vandenberg told his colleagues, was the fear that Germany might some day be able to rearm and run again the peace of the world. Remove that fear, he argued, and they would accept collective security.

Treaty Proposed
To accomplish this he proposed that the major allies sign a treaty for the "peremptory use of force" to keep Germany and Japan demilitarized.

"Whether we Americans do or do not agree upon all the powers that shall reside in an ultimate international council to call upon us for joint military action in behalf of collective security," he said, "nobody can agree that we do not want an instant hesitation or doubt about our military cooperation in the peremptory use of force, if needed, to keep Germany and Japan demilitarized X X X."

"There should be no need to refer any such action back to Congress any more than Congress would expect to pass on battle plans today. The commander in chief should have instant power to act and he should act. I know no reason why a hard and fast treaty between the major allies should not be signed today to achieve this dependable end. We need not wait the determination of our postwar relationships."

As another step, Vandenberg said this nation ought to demand now that "whatever unilateral decisions have to be made in consequence of military need, and there will be such even in civil affairs, shall all be temporary and subject to final revision in the objective light of the postwar world and the postwar peace league as they shall ultimately develop."

Churchill Criticized
He criticized what he interpreted as an implication in Prime Minister Churchill's Dec. 15 explanation of British intervention in Greece that the future world security organization might fail to handle European political problems satisfactorily.

No nation, he continued, was coming to take any course except that dictated by self interest. It was up to the United States, he argued, to convince her allies that their self interest lay in collective action.

He said that Russia's present plans appeared to "contemplate the engagement, directly or indirectly, of a surrounding circle of buffer states, contrary to our conception of what we thought we were fighting for in respect to the rights of small nations and a just peace."

But unless the United States spoke out, he continued, Russia had a right to say: "How can you expect us to rely on an enigma?" Vandenberg took President Roosevelt to task for what he termed the "almost jocular, and even cynical, dismissal of the Atlantic charter as a mere collection of fragmentary notes." He said this "jarred America to its very hearthstones."

Expressing hope the president had "repaired this damage," by his subsequent statements in support of the charter, the Michigan Senator said this country ought to say beyond misunderstanding that it had not altered its original commitments, had not lowered its sights, was not fighting to pull alien chestnuts out of the fire and that "the smell of victory is not an anaesthetic which puts our earlier zeals to sleep."

News From Men In The Service

Sgt. Leonard Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bauer, of 421 Montana avenue, who was formerly a member of All Saints' choir, writes to his parents telling of the music of the Christmas mass, which he directed, somewhere in the South Pacific.

"Dear Mom and Dad:
"Hello and how are you? I am fine and dandy. Dear mom, you should have been at the Christmas midnight mass. It was beautiful and it ran off perfectly. You should have seen the crowd that was there. The inside of the chapel was filled and all around it, the men and nurses stood on the outside.

"The chapel was lighted by candles and was decorated with colored parachutes and nice green palms. They also had a very nice crib. Everybody worked hard to make it a happy Christmas here. I directed a choir of over thirty-five voices and the men sang out as loud and clear as a bell. It sent a thrill up and down my spine when I stood in front of them and they really did a marvelous job. After they sang the carols, I sang the mass. My voice never sounded better and the mass went over very successfully. Everyone complimented me very highly and said they appreciated it very much. The chaplain was very well satisfied and he and I have become good friends. I visited him during the week. He gives me books and magazines to read. He is from St. Paul.

"Dear mom, I only wish you could have been here to hear us sing—I know you would have enjoyed it.

"Our mail situation is bad again. Haven't received any for three weeks now. In fact no one here has received any letters or packages. I received only one package from you, mom. It is being held up somewhere again.

"I hope you have received the sea shell bracelet and snapshots I sent you. My regards to the girls and a very happy New Year. God bless you both. With love, Son, Leonard."

Mr. and Mrs. Bauers have two other sons in service, T/5 Harry, who has just arrived safely in England, and Ruby, who is in Holland.

Campaign To Be Made In County From Jan.
14 To 31

A campaign to raise funds for the infantile paralysis foundation is being launched in Manistique with Charles D. Manson in charge as campaign director and the public will be asked to donate in amounts individuals or organizations may see fit toward this very worthy cause.

The campaign will begin Sunday, January 14 and continue on to the end of the month.

Heretofore, funds to carry on this work have been raised through the March of Dimes, but these methods will not be employed this year, Mr. Manson announces. He also emphasizes the fact that this is not meant as a special occasion for honoring the president nor a means of raising funds for the Warm Springs Foundation. The funds will be used to combat infantile paralysis—half of the funds going to the national work and the rest to local need.

Frank Gierke is president of the local association, Ed Hahne, treasurer and Ed LaFave, secretary.

WILL OBSERVE SCOUT WEEK

Tentative Plans Made Wednesday For Court Of Honor

Plans for the fitting observance of Boy Scout week—Feb. 11-17—are now in the making.

At a meeting of Boy Scout leaders at the First National Bank Wednesday evening, at which S. N. Bradford, of Escanaba, executive of the Red Buck district presided, tentative plans with a Court of Honor as a highlight for the week, were drawn up.

At this Court of Honor, merit badges will be awarded deserving Scouts, there will be movies, an address and other entertainment features, the nature of which are still in the planning stage. Also planned for the week will be the featuring of appropriate window and billboard displays. These plans will be completed at the next regular Scout executive meeting.

Adequate leadership is the biggest handicap in present day Boy Scout activities, Mr. Bradford told the meeting. Those who accept the responsibility of leadership, he added, will find that in order to do complete justice to the work.

James Roddy and Albert Hescott, leaders of a newly organized Boy Scout troop at Nahma, were among those present at the meeting.

Problem Expected To Be Tossed Back Into His Lap

Washington, Jan. 11 (P)—There were indications today that Assistant President Jimmy Byrnes will soon be asked to make a definite decision on what to do with wartime sports.

Some sources predicted Byrnes will find that the most practicable solution is to order a tight general shutdown as that in effect at race tracks.

The request for Byrnes to act is expected to come from a presidential committee and office of defense transportation now studying the ban on conventions and trade shows attended by 50 or more persons.

"If it reaches a point where complications can't be readily straightened out, we'll go to the White House for a decision on sports events," an ODT source said.

It was emphasized that "in case of doubt, the thing to do is cancel," and that "this thing is very serious. Nobody's kidding about the war's pressing needs."

Many inquiries received by ODT as to whether basketball tournaments, track meets and such come under the ban on conventions, involve complex situations.

Byrnes has said that he contemplates no ban on sports . . . and ODT feels that sports in the main have been highly cooperative . . . but some observers see developments the past few weeks leaving Byrnes no choice but to order a general shutdown, if the whole sports problem is tossed back into his lap.

Since Byrnes fired a broadside at professional athletes for not being in the war effort and followed up by shutting down the race tracks, sports have been crowded tighter into a corner by the president's message urging work-or-fight legislation, increased manpower needs both in war production and on the fighting fronts, the ban on conventions, the reduction of lighting and heating to conserve coal.

Five Changes Favored In College Grid Code

BY HAROLD HARRISON

Columbus, O., Jan. 11 (P)—The rules committee of the National College Football Coaches association voted today to recommend five major changes in the collegiate gridiron code.

Of prime importance were proposals to prohibit the out of bounds kickoff and to permit forward passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage.

The other changes which the coaches voted at an all-day session to recommend were:

1. To make use of a one-inch tee, to be provided by the officials, mandatory for kickoffs.

2. That where the forearm is used in blocking, the hand must be held against the body, and striking in the face with the elbow should be prohibited.

3. To lessen the severity of the penalty for an attempted lateral pass which is thrown forward.

Under the suggested rule there would be a five-yard penalty and a down from the point where the attempted lateral was thrown.

Present rules call it an uncompleted forward pass and the ball is returned to the line of scrimmage. When a team which did not put the ball in play originally makes such a miscue it would be penalized five yards from where the attempted lateral was thrown instead of 15 yards as at present.

4. To make use of a one-inch tee, to be provided by the officials, mandatory for kickoffs.

5. That where the forearm is used in blocking, the hand must be held against the body, and striking in the face with the elbow should be prohibited.

Hunting And Fishing

By Sid Gordon

THE CRAZY FLIES WE FISHERMEN TIE

I'm just plumb worn out fellows. When I write a story for the column, I bring it down to the newspaper and hand it over to the managing editor. He looks it over to see whether anything I have typewritten on the two sheets is apt to cause his paper to be sued for libel, slander or what not.

After he has read it over, he turns it in to the linotype operators. Then the proof readers check it and sufficient stone proofs are run off so that I can mail the releases to the other papers which run my "stuff," as printers term all newspaper copy.

Sometimes this managing editor argues with me. He is not a fly fisherman; he's a gardener and he fusses around landscaping his grounds and such stuff. While he has a beautiful place on the lake shore, he's so busy gardening in the winter that he is too busy to fish or hunt.

His name is Jack. Please don't think for a moment that I am trying to prejudice you against him, for I am not. I'm merely trying to show you what sort of a guy I am up against when I bring in the copy for my column.

He's against rabbits. He does not like them because they kill his shrubs and gnaw the bark off his fruit trees. Then his fruit trees die and he gets mad at the rabbits. He has a 12-gauge shotgun and he won't shoot them. Just yesterday he asked me to come over and get rid of them for him.

He's the sort of a fellow whose mouth waters at the sight of a roast pheasant. He'll smack his lips over a meal of pheasant but he'll sit in his sun room during the hunting season and keep his 12-gauge gun in his den. He sits there watching the pheasants overrun his grounds and will draw down on you if you dare so much as aim at one of them.

He argues with me and is a stickler for the right word in the right place. I feel that this is the proper time to talk to the fishermen about tying flies and I wrote a piece about it with the heading "The Crazy Flies We Fishermen Tie."

He doesn't like the head, the title, and insists that I change it and I just won't do it. I shall write the next story about "The Crazy Flies We Fishermen Tie." And I hope the rabbits eat his shrubbery and the pheasants clean out his garden next spring, summer and fall.

Th reason why? I hate to tell you, fellow fishermen, but Jack wants to change the head to "The Flies We Crazy Fishermen Tie."

(Editor's Note: Mr. Gordon, authority though he is on hunting, fishing and kindred subjects, is like most experts—addicted to the use of hyperbole, which the dictionary defines as "exaggeration for effect," and is likewise known for the reckless abandon with which he mutilates the English language. Just for the record his next article should be on the subject, "The Articles We Crazy Columnists Write to Drive Editors Crazy.")

Will Dress It Up

Dumont's first brainstorm about changing the rules was in 1930, when he decided golf had better scoring rules than baseball. He sponsored an exhibition game with the scoring patterned after golf. That is, the team with the most runs per inning was credited with that frame. The teams alternated each inning in batting first and last. The final score, Dumont recalls, was something like two up and one to go.

He'll continue to dress up the game to get it out of the hoop-ski era, however. Such innovations as the illuminated scoreboard, pneumatic home plate duster and jack-in-the-box microphone to air arguments will be retained, with additions of anything that filters into his mind.

Incidentally, we are expecting to get Dumont's preview of 1945 semi-pro baseball any day now, and for optimism we guarantee it will break all records. The prospect of major league 4-F's going into war plants would mean better semi-pro teams for those plants, which mean better crowds, which mean better money, etc. The Byrnes' statement didn't just have a silver lining for Dumont. It practically turned any clouds inside out for him.

Unbeaten Squads On Spot In Week's Big Ten Tangles

BY JERRY LISKKA

Chicago, Jan. 11 (P)—A knock-down, drag-out affair before the opening whistle faded, the Big Ten basketball race this week ends one of the two still unbeaten contenders definitely on the spot.

Northwestern, a 52-37 victor over Wisconsin in its only previous league start, sees action in two of the five conference battles scheduled Friday and Saturday. The Wildcats tackle Minnesota's surprisingly formidable five at Evanston tomorrow night and meet Ohio State's defending champions at Columbus Saturday night.

Their second successive home appearance is enough to favor Iowa's heralded Hawkeyes to keep their record unblemished against once-beaten Purdue Saturday night.

In other games, Illinois and Michigan face off at Ann Arbor in a second meeting Friday night and Minnesota invades Wisconsin Saturday night.

With only seven conference games played, the dopests already are scurrying for cover. Highly-regarded Illinois was bumped off in its first start by Michigan, 43-38. Ohio State was tumbled by Purdue 37-36 and then the Boilermakers were spilled by Minnesota 49-44. Indiana has lost its only start, but that was a 54-53 shading by Michigan which in turn had failed to get past Ohio State in its opener.

In the midst of the get-away confusion, Iowa's Dick Ives, 1944 conference scoring champion, has been left at the post. Towering Arnold Risen of Ohio State, Ives's 1944 scoring rival, has tallied 31 points in two games while Bob Geahan of Michigan tops the standings with 37 in three games.

Dumont Decides

Baseball Rules Need No Revision

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, Jan. 11 (P)—We're a little discouraged about our friend Ray Dumont. The big Hoosier is turning sissy on us; actually beginning to think the baseball rules are pretty good as they are.

He isn't even suggesting a minor change this year, such as having the outfielders patrol their gardens in airplanes or giving the batter the choice of going up to hit the ball or just announcing he was conceding himself a two-base hit and taking his place at second, thus eliminating the time the pitcher wastes trying to throw a two-base hit ball.

Public Is Satisfied

Ordinarily Dumont comes up with some such idea every year, and uses his national semi-pro baseball congress at Wichita as a guinea pig. Last year he tried sort of an ambidextrous base-running scheme, with the batter allowed to head in any direction he pleased. The result was astonishing, with the players getting mixed up all this time. They should have had a conductor at each base to punch tickets to see that the runners were going in the right direction.

Anyhow, Dumont says that after many experiments he convinced the public doesn't want any new fangled ideas in the rules. The remark was prompted by a publicized scheme to speed up the game by making it seven innings, with four outs for each team each inning.

"We tried out a plan to speed up the game back in 1938," Dumont explains. "This speed-up plan had been thrown and players took no warm-up practice between innings. The fans poo-pooed the idea. They asked: 'Why speed up the game, anyway?'"

"I'm convinced after all these years that the fans want the game dressed up more but they're dead set against streamline changes in the playing rules."

Dumont's first brainstorm about changing the rules was in 1930, when he decided golf had better scoring rules than baseball. He sponsored an exhibition game with the scoring patterned after golf. The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Lt. Arthur Devlin, greatest of all American-born ski jumpers is back in the United States competing in ski jump tournaments again after serving 50 missions as a bombardier over Hitler's Europe. Devlin whose longest jump in competition is 238 feet from Iron Mountain in 1942 wanted to be a fighter pilot in the Air Force. He's still peeved at examiners who rejected him as a pilot because, imagine it, he lacked coordination. Devlin is still hoping that he will be given a chance at piloting fighter planes because he likes to man-to-man combat that a bombardier doesn't get.

"Really, you get more thrills while ski jumping than while bombing," Lt. Devlin moans. This despite the fact that Devlin returned to America with a chestful of ribbons, including awards representing the Distinguished Flying cross, the Air Medal with three clusters, the Purple Heart with a cluster, and the Presidential citation with two clusters. Devlin was wounded in the left thigh by flak over Munich and later sustained a broken right foot in a ball-out from rudderless plane that had its entire tail assembly shot away. He wondered how his wounds would affect his skiing, and was happy to learn that he still possesses the bird-like grace that made him the American champion in 1942.

About the only sure thing that came out the National Football league meeting in Chicago this week was the fact that club merg-

The league owners followed a smart path in deciding to postpone decisions concerning the 1945 season until April, when obviously there will be a clearer outlook on conditions in the fall when the football season arrives again. The "work or fight" legislation now before congress has an important bearing on professional football and the pro league should know what to expect in the way of manpower before writing its 1945 ticket. The opposition by Marshall to this three months delay hardly makes sense in view of the turbulent conditions that now exist.

Q. What is considered the peak age for boxers?

A. According to Frank Menke's "Encyclopedia of Sports," it is 25-26.

Q. What is the distance from home plate to centerfield in Yankee Stadium and Polo grounds?

A. Yankee Stadium, 461 feet; Polo grounds, 430 feet.

Q. Who were the most effective pitchers in the National League in 1944?

A. Ed Heusser of the Cincinnati Reds, who had an earned run average per 9-inning game of 2.38; Bucky Walters, also of the Reds, had a rating of 2.40 runs per game, followed by the Cardinal stars—Mort Cooper with 2.46; Ted Wilks, 2.64 and Max Lanier, 2.65.

The largest crowd in years is expected to be on hand Friday when these two schools battle it out for winning honors. At Powers, the feeling is great for victory and Powers hasn't beat Hermansville for the past 10 years. At Hermansville, it's a determined bunch of boys who this week have been drilling hard and are expected to be in top shape for the game.

Both of the schools are handicapped for this game. Hermansville is playing without the services of MacEachern and Powers without Perket, their main star, who suffered an injury of the eye in a pre-holiday game with Daggett.

At Hermansville, Coach Mantei has been taking his boys to Powers every night this week and has been putting them through long drills. The work of Dani and Mauli has looked good in drills this week. It appears that Lacoursiere will get the other nod at the forward spot with Sutherland and Maga to handle the guard duties.

PROFIT CASHING HALTS ADVANCE

New York, Jan. 11 (P)—The long driving stock market ran into more insistent profit cashing today and while steels and specialties continued to mount, railroads and many recovery climbers backed into losing territory.

After a fast opening in which blocks of 1,000 and 5,000 shares were frequent, trends turned irregular and even steels were well under the best at the close. Volume topped the two-million mark for the third consecutive session. Turnover of 2,212,920 shares compared with 2,109,655 the day before. The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 59.9. It was another broad market, 985 individual issues registering. Of these 383 were down, 246 up and 226 unchanged.

International Telephone, up a point, was the fastest sprinter, apparently stimulated by reports of new overseas developments in the company's foreign properties.

On the downside were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and American Smelting.

BONDS HOLD STEADY

New York, Jan. 11 (P)—The bond market rode out prolonged waves of profit taking today and emerged with rails at a new 7-year high and other groups holding fully steady positions.

The persistent bullish forces in promoting the advancing side and the strong tendency to cash profits on the lengthy untapped market must await active session since February 15, 1944. Sales totaled $23,30

News From Men In The Service

Pfc. Hugo Fenske, Jr., who was slightly wounded in action in France in September, has forwarded the Purple Heart decoration awarded him to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Fenske, Sr., of 1115 Second avenue south, who have just received it. Pvt. Fenske, who received a hip wound and was hospitalized for a short time, is now with the armed forces in Germany.

Pfc. Fenske

Cpl. Maurice Blixt, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Blixt, 118 South 22nd street, is now serving with the U. S. Army in New Guinea. Joining the army on June 15, 1944, he received his training at St. Louis and Camp Ellis, Ill., and went overseas on Nov. 15.

Writing to his parents from New Guinea recently, he said in part: "This island of New Guinea isn't a bad place at all. In fact, it would be perfect if it was cooler. At noon it's well over a hundred degrees. I go swimming every day in the Pacific, which is only a couple hundred feet from my tent and the water is swell. Of course, there is plenty of thick brush and lots of palm trees with their coconuts. The milk from the inside of the coconut is real good and the meat itself tastes like nigger-toes. You probably know by now that I got here Christmas eve after a trip that took us a long time to make. I was surely glad to get off that crowded boat and get my feet on good old solid ground."

Joe Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boyer, 516 South Fifteenth street, has arrived in Italy and has been promoted to the rank of corporal. Cpl. Boyer is a medical corpsman with a mountain infantry unit. He received his training as a ski trooper at Camp Hale, Colo., and later was transferred to Camp Swift, Texas. His brother, Robert, has been promoted to technical sergeant and has been transferred from Camp Roberts, Calif., to Fort Belvoir, Va. His wife, who has been living in Los Angeles, will join him soon in Virginia.

Following are excerpts from a letter written by Sgt. Edwin Peterson, who is stationed in England, to his father, Henry Peterson, of Nahma:

"Dear Father and All: Christmas Eve and I sure am thankful I am able to write you. Remember, I don't want people to do any worrying over me and have a good time. You may think this a dull Christmas Eve to be writing letters but I appreciate it more than words can explain. The reason is this is the second time I've been able to write in seven days. The other was just a V letter. Suppose Dad is busy getting his nets in. I take it for granted the bay is frozen. It's plenty chilly here. Dad, I am sure I will be your fishing partner next year. "Managed to go to church this p. m. It was an outdoor affair with a nice crowd. Sang Christmas carols and later the chaplain gave a wonderful sermon. We wore gloves during the service to keep our hands warm. I know all appreciated being able to be at church on this day. I pray you people are all at church tonight. Kenneth was lucky to get home on furlough. It makes me laugh when you say my turn should come soon. My turn will be when peace is declared.

"Tell Dick I wrote him but I think the Jerries got it. Bet he thinks I am a heck of a pal but guess the papers will explain why; things were mighty rough for a few days.

"Give Moores my best regards.

Wish I could see the children tomorrow morning (Christmas). It sure will be wonderful to spend a Christmas again with all the decorations and lights. Of course we see plenty of lights over here. Tell Bee I received her most wonderful gift today.

"I am writing this letter underground. Tell Dad I'll always remember him as one grand fellow. Sure wish I could spend Christmas with him. Keep smiling. Some day I will smile with you. God bless all. Loads of love. Ed."
